

This is a simple web project using html, css and js

This is when it not using only html , you can click the button “Change Background Color” to change the background color using css

Final when you click at the “Greet Me” button it will appear the letter “Hello, welcome to my website!” using js